

Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

CLEAN OATS FOR HORSES.
Homemade Device That Will Extract Dust From the Feed.
Very few horsemen realize that they feed at least one bushel of dirt, dust, etc., along with every load of oats they feed. The above statement is true, even with the so-called cleaned oats sold by feed dealers. Some time ago I decided to stop feeding the dust, dirt, etc., and did so by building the dust extractor shown in the illustration, says a writer in Farm and Ranch.

The smaller picture shows the cleaner with top and front removed; the other shows the cleaner complete and in operation.

The oats are stored in a bin located in the barn loft. The device is as simple and easy to build as it is effective in removing the dirt from the oats. The body should be about twelve inches square and from four to six feet long. The longer it is the better it will clean the oats. As shown, the interior arrangement is made by shaping two pieces like A and two pieces like B in the right hand figure.

B is covered on the step shape portions either with tin or thin boards. The top sides of A are covered with screen wire and the lower sides covered with tin or boards. These pieces, A and B, should be cut from 1 by 6 inch boards and should be about six inches wide at the widest points and about two inches at the narrowest place. This will leave about two inches behind A for the dust, etc., to pass down and out at C.

The oats are fed in at the top through the spout F by moving the lever E, which controls the slide in spout F. The step shaped projections of A and B toss the oats back and forth over the screen wire, and they finally come out at D cleaned, while the dust and dirt fall to the ground or in a box, as shown in the right hand figure.

The cleaner may be made almost any size, from eight to eighteen inches square, and the arrangement for feeding the oats into the cleaner may be

FORTUNE CAME IN AUTO.
How One Farm Was Freed From a Mortgage by a Wife.

"My method of adding to our income is by keeping an inn for automobile travelers," a farmer's wife who recently paid a visit to several weeks to New York City told the reporter. "Our farm is ten miles away from the nearest railroad station, and it was next to impossible to get summer boarders. It was so difficult for me to market my butter and eggs and chickens that it didn't seem worth while.

"I used to be always wishing we could get nearer the station. It seemed to me that if we could only get where city people would be willing to come in the summer our fortune would be made. I have always been a good housekeeper, and my husband is known all through our part of the country as a good provider. Some people used to say that was the reason we never could get rid of the mortgage on the farm.

"The children and I had all but persuaded him to sell out and move to the village when our eldest daughter suggested opening an inn for the automobilists, who were continually stopping at our place for water and other little things. My two daughters set at work and brightened up the house and yards. Then they put out a sign at the crossroads and another on the front gatepost stating that we were prepared to furnish meals and lodgings for small parties.

"Then small parties soon began to come in, and they have been increasing in size and number ever since. At first there were only two rooms in which we could accommodate those who wished to remain overnight, but as my children have married off three more have become available.

"Yes, both my daughters have married since we turned our farmhouse into an inn four years ago, and during the last year both sons married also. That leaves me alone with a niece to look after the inn, while my husband still devotes himself to the farm.

"From the first our object in keeping the inn has been to brighten our home and add to the value of the farm. The house is old fashioned, and besides the kitchen there are eight rooms. They were very large when we began to take in automobilists, but now, thanks to the money that they have left with us, there are not many farmhouses in this part of the country where you would find more books and more comfortable furnishings.

"One of the boys took a course at the agricultural college of Cornell university, and the other could have done that also if he hadn't preferred the Institute of Technology in Boston. As soon as he finished there last summer he took a job that was waiting for him, and then he got married. His specialty is electricity, and he wired our house and put in electric bells almost two years ago. That is one of the conveniences we would never have had if we hadn't opened the inn.

"We don't pretend to give our visitors anything fancy to eat—just the things raised on the farm well cooked and served. My niece has studied domestic science, so she knows how to cook by the new methods, while I can do about as well as the next one with my old recipes.

"You mustn't think we have had things all our own way. Several farmers who live near the road have put out the inn sign, and some of them have a good business, but as we began first and have kept our place up to the standard the visitors have continued to stop with us instead of going to neighboring inns. Besides, we haven't tried to change our house very much, only to freshen it up and make it more comfortable.

"I have found that when they come to the country is good country eating. That is what we give them at our inn—a plenty of it and with fresh, clean linen and china that is washed and polished until it shines. We no longer have a mortgage on the farm, and we have money in bank."

Easily Adjustable Shelves.
The illustration shows an excellent way of supporting shelves. The upright supports have grooves sawed in them crosswise at intervals of three-quarters of an inch to one inch. A good sized hand rip saw makes these grooves wide enough. A flat strip of iron about two inches wide and just thick enough to fit into the grooves is bent into a Z shape, but with right angles, shown at the right in the figure. One such strip is put into a groove at each end at the desired height and the shelf laid upon them. This is the most satisfactory method of supporting shelves known, inasmuch as the shelves are adjustable, the supports, iron strips, can never fall out unless the shelf be removed, and it permits of smaller differences of adjustment than any other kind of adjustable shelf. It is excellent for smokehouse, storeroom, workshop, pantry or cupboard.

In average corn the "hundred bushels a day" husker must husk a row between eight and nine miles long every day, and that is going some.

Salting the Flock.
Sheep that have been a long time without salt are apt to make themselves sick eating too much of it when the opportunity comes. Be regular in feeding it to them, or, better still, provide a box to which the flock can have access at all times. They will help themselves and will eat only such as is good for them.

Variation in Milk Flow.
It was found at the Nebraska experiment station that as a rule, the variation in milk flow in individual cows from year to year was due to length of lactation and rest before freshening. A long lactation period favors a large milk production; also a long period of rest before freshening brings the same result.

Wood Ashes For Horses.
A little wood ash is held to be very beneficial to horses. It is given a teaspoonful at a time, sprinkled on a feed of oats.
